

1. How we use parent, carer and pupil information

Data protection legislation gives parents, carers and pupils the right to be informed about what personal data is held on them, how that data is used, who it is shared with and how long it is retained. This privacy notice provides this information, in general terms, in relation to information held on parents, carers and pupils, as well as the lawful basis under which it is collected and retained.

If after reading this notice you have any questions relating to the data we hold or how we use it, please contact our Data Protection Officer, whose contact details are listed at the end of this notice.

Kilmington Primary School is the Data Controller in charge of the data. The school is registered as a Data Controller with the Information Commissioner's Office and renews that registration annually.

2. Categories of information

The categories of information that we collect, hold and share include but are not limited to:

- contact details and personal identifiers (such as name, address, telephone numbers, email address)
- characteristics (such as ethnicity, religion, first language, nationality, country of birth and free school meal eligibility)
- attendance information (such as sessions attended, number of absences, absence reasons, prior school attended and next school)
- assessment and attainment (such as key stage 1 and phonics results)
- medical information (such as doctors' information, health checks, allergies, medication and dietary requirements)
- special educational needs information (including EHCPs)
- safeguarding information (such as court orders and professional involvement)
- behavioural information (such as exclusions & any relevant alternative provision put in place)
- correspondence and records of contact
- photographs (for internal safeguarding & security purposes, school newsletters, media and promotional purposes)

We may also hold data about parents, carers and pupils that we have received from other organisations, including other schools, local authorities and the Department for Education.

3. Why we collect and use this information

It is essential for the school to collect personal data in order for the school to fulfil their official functions and meet legal requirements.

We collect and use parent, carer and pupil information in order to:

- a) support pupil learning
- b) monitor and report on pupil attainment progress
- c) provide appropriate pastoral care
- d) assess the quality of our services
- e) keep children safe (food allergies, medical conditions or emergency contact details)
- f) to meet statutory duties placed upon us, e.g. by the Department for Education

We will only collect and process personal data where we have a lawful basis to do so under data protection law. We will inform affected individuals about this in the form of this privacy notice when we first collect their data. If we later need to use their personal data for an additional reason we will update this privacy notice, inform the individuals concerned and seek consent if this is appropriate.

Under the UK General Data Protection Regulation (UK GDPR), the lawful bases we rely on for processing parent, carer and pupil information are:

- for the purposes of (a), (b), (c) & (d) above; in accordance with the legal basis of public task. Collecting this data is necessary to perform tasks that the school are required to perform as part of their statutory function
- for the purposes of (e) above; in accordance with the legal basis of vital interests. Processing this data is necessary in order to protect someone's life
- for the purposes of (f) above; in accordance with the legal basis of legal obligation. Data collected for the DfE census information is covered by:
 - section 537A of the Education Act 1996
 - the Education Act 1996 s29\(3\)
 - the Education \(School Performance Information\) \(England\) Regulations 2007
 - regulations 5 and 8 School Information \(England\) Regulations 2008
 - the Education \(Pupil Registration\) \(England\) \(Amendment\) Regulations 2013

We may also process personal data where we have obtained the parent's or carer's consent to use the data in a certain manner. Where we have obtained consent to use personal data, this consent can be withdrawn at any time. We will make this clear when we ask for consent, and explain how consent can be withdrawn.

Occasionally, where the processing is not part of our performing tasks as a public authority, we may process data under the lawful basis that it is in our legitimate interests or the legitimate interests of a third party to do so. In these circumstances we would be using the data in a way that would be reasonably expected by the parent, carer or pupil concerned and the processing will have a minimal privacy impact or there will be a compelling justification for the processing.

If we need to process any special category data under Article 9 of the UK GDPR which is of a more sensitive nature, we will only do so if we have a lawful basis to do so under Paragraph 2 of Article 9 of the UK GDPR.

Some of the reasons listed above for collecting and using parents', carers' or pupils' personal data may overlap and it may be that more than one lawful basis applies to our processing of the data.

No decisions are made by the school through automated decision making (including profiling).

Pupil photographs

Kilmington Primary School strives to provide pupils with an enriched experience of education, including celebrating pupils' successes. This may involve the publication of pupils' images in the school newsletter, on the school website or social media pages and, on occasions, in the public media. The school respects the wishes of parents/carers whether or not they want their children's images used in these ways and uses a pupil image consent form to seek consent to use pupil images in specific ways.

If we use photographs of individual pupils, we will not use the name of that child in the accompanying text or photo caption. If we name a pupil in the text, we will not use a photograph of that child to accompany the article. There may be specific occasions when we will ask an individual parent's/carer's additional consent to use their child's name alongside an image, for example if they have won an award.

It is not always necessary for the school to seek consent for the use of photographs. For example, when they are used for identification purposes or when they are taken for assessment purposes. Photographs in Learning Journeys and exercise books are used to record and celebrate children's progress, particularly in the Foundation Stage and in Key Stage 1. These are sent home at the end of the year. Photos of individuals, groups or classes of children may appear in these records.

Although the school regularly updates the school website and this includes the removal of out-of-date images, images may remain on the school website for up to 12 months after a child leaves the school.

The school is not responsible under data protection legislation for photographs taken for personal use by parents, carers and their relatives during school events such as Christmas plays and sports days. However, we request parents and carers not to share photographs of their children taken at these events on social media if they include other pupils. This is because it may not be appropriate that such images are shared. This may be because, by personal choice, parents or carers do not wish photographs of their children to appear on social media or it may be for reasons of child protection about which other parents or carers would not be aware. We would also expect that if during such an event a parent/carer requests another parent not to take a photograph of their child that those wishes are respected.

4. Collecting parent, carer and pupil information

We collect the majority of parent, carer and pupil information via enrolment forms or a Common Transfer File (CTF) or other secure file transfer from a pupil's previous school. As well as holding personal data that has been provided by the parent, carer or pupil, we may also hold data provided by other sources, such as:

- local authorities
- government departments or agencies
- police forces, courts and tribunals.

Whilst the majority of personal information provided to us is mandatory, some of it is provided to us on a voluntary basis. In order to comply with data protection legislation, we will inform you at the point of collection whether you are required to provide certain information to us or if you have a choice in this.

5. Storing data

We hold personal data relating to a parent, carer or pupil throughout the duration of a pupil's attendance at Kilmington Primary School. The pupil file will follow the pupil when that pupil leaves the school. However it will be necessary to retain some data and this will be kept in line with our retention policy which can be viewed upon request by contacting the school. When personal data is no longer needed, we will dispose of it in a secure manner.

In order to protect data whilst it is in our possession we have data protection policies and procedures in place. These include strong organisational and technical measures and these are reviewed regularly. For further information on how data is protected please contact the school's Data Protection Officer whose contact details can be found at the end of this privacy notice.

6. Who we share parent, carer and pupil information with

We do not share information about parents, carers or pupils with any third party without consent unless the law and our policies allow us to do so.

The Department for Education (DfE) collects personal data from educational settings and local authorities via various statutory data collections. We are required to share information about our pupils with the DfE either directly or via our local authority for the purpose of those data collections, under section 3 of The Education (Information About Individual Pupils) (England) Regulations 2013. Data shared with the DfE underpins school funding and educational attainment policy and monitoring. An example of the information we share with our local authority would be safeguarding concerns or exclusions. We may also be required to share information about our pupils with the local authority to ensure that they can conduct their statutory duties under the Schools Admission Code, including conducting Fair Access Panels. All data is transferred securely and held by the DfE under a combination of software and hardware controls, which meet the current government security policy framework. For more information, please see section 13 'How the Government uses your data'.

Where there is a legal requirement to do so, or it is otherwise necessary and it complies with data protection law, we may also share personal information with:

- educators and examining bodies
- Ofsted
- suppliers and service providers – to enable them to provide the services contracted
- central government departments or agencies

7. Additional information for children in need and looked-after children

In addition to the details set out in this privacy notice, this section explains how we use supplementary information relating to children in need and looked-after children.

The categories of children in need and looked-after children information that we collect, hold and share include:

- episodes of being a child in need (such as referral information, assessment information, Section 47 information, Initial Child Protection information and Child Protection Plan information)
- episodes of being looked after (such as important dates and information on placements)
- outcomes for looked after children (such as whether health and dental assessments are up to date, strengths and difficulties questionnaire scores and offending)

We use this additional personal data to:

- a) support these children and monitor their progress

- b) provide them with pastoral care
- c) assess the quality of our services
- d) evaluate and improve our policies on children's social care

Under the UK General Data Protection Regulation (UK GDPR) the lawful basis we rely on for all of these purposes when processing this additional information is that it is processed in accordance with the legal basis of public task. Collecting this data is necessary to perform tasks that the school are required to perform as part of their statutory function.

8. Requesting access to your personal data and your data protection rights

Under data protection legislation, parents and carers have the right to request access to information held about them by making a Subject Access Request.

Parents can also make a Subject Access Request with respect to their child's data where the child is not considered mature enough to exercise their rights over their own data (widely considered to be under the age of 12) or where the child has provided consent.

If you make a Subject Access Request and we do hold information about you or your child, we will:

- give you a description of the information held
- tell you why we are processing it and for how long we will keep it
- explain where we got it from, if not from you or your child
- tell you who it has been, or will be, shared with
- let you know whether any automated decision-making is being applied to the data, and any consequences of this
- give you a copy of the information in an intelligible form.

In certain circumstances, some information on documents provided under a Subject Access Request may be redacted (i.e. blacked out) or a document may be withheld entirely. For example, this may be the case if providing the information might cause serious harm to a person's wellbeing or if it would result in the disclosure of exam marks prior to their official release.

Depending on the lawful basis under which their personal data is being held, parents, carers and pupils may also have the right to:

- object to processing of personal data if it is likely to cause, or is causing, damage or distress
- prevent processing of their personal data for the purpose of direct marketing
- object to decisions being taken by automated means
- in certain circumstances:
 - have personal data erased or destroyed
 - restrict the processing of data
 - have inaccurate personal data rectified
 - have their personal information transmitted electronically to another organisation
- seek redress, either through the Information Commissioner's Office, or through the courts.

If you would like to make a Subject Access Request or exercise another of the above rights, please contact the school or our Data Protection Officer whose contact details are listed at the end of this notice.

13. How the Government uses your data

The pupil data that we lawfully share with the DfE through data collections:

- underpins school funding, which is calculated based upon the numbers of children and their characteristics in each school.
- informs 'short term' education policy monitoring and school accountability and intervention (for example, school GCSE results or Pupil Progress measures).
- supports 'longer term' research and monitoring of educational policy (for example how certain subject choices go on to affect education or earnings beyond school)

Data collection requirements

To find out more about the data collection requirements placed on us by the Department for Education (for example; via the school census) go to <https://www.gov.uk/education/data-collection-and-censuses-for-schools>

The National Pupil Database (NPD)

Much of the data about pupils in England goes on to be held in the National Pupil Database (NPD).

The NPD is owned and managed by the Department for Education and contains information about pupils in schools in England. It provides invaluable evidence on educational performance to inform independent research, as well as studies commissioned by the department.

It is held in electronic format for statistical purposes. This information is securely collected from a range of sources including schools, local authorities and awarding bodies.

To find out more about the NPD, go to <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/national-pupil-database-user-guide-and-supporting-information>

Sharing by the Department

The law allows the Department to share pupils' personal data with certain third parties, including:

- schools
- local authorities
- researchers
- organisations connected with promoting the education or wellbeing of children in England
- other government departments and agencies

- organisations fighting or identifying crime

For more information about the Department's NPD data sharing process, please visit:

<https://www.gov.uk/data-protection-how-we-collect-and-share-research-data>

Organisations fighting or identifying crime may use their legal powers to contact the DfE to request access to individual level information relevant to detecting that crime. Whilst numbers fluctuate slightly over time, the DfE typically supplies data on around 600 pupils per year to the Home Office and roughly 1 per year to the Police.

For information about which organisations the Department has provided pupil information, (and for which project) or to access a monthly breakdown of data share volumes with Home Office and the police please visit the following website: <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/df-external-data-shares>

How to find out what personal information the DfE holds about you

Under the terms of the Data Protection Act 2018, you are entitled to ask the Department:

- if they are processing your personal data
- for a description of the data they hold about you
- the reasons they're holding it and any recipient it may be disclosed to
- for a copy of your personal data and any details of its source

If you want to see the personal data held about you by the Department, you should make a 'subject access request'. Further information on how to do this can be found within the Department's personal information charter that is published at the address below:
